

Two years ago, we selected David Schertzing to remodel two bathrooms in our home. We were impressed with the care that was taken to protect the rest of the house from the dust and debris that was a result of the work being performed. The sub-contractors that David used were just as careful.

Last year when we decided to remodel our kitchen, we once again turned to David Schertzing. He seemed unfazed by our “while you are at it” projects and forged ahead without skipping a beat. A portion of the remodeling required the design of the living room fireplace. We furnished a couple of photos from a web site, explained to David what we were looking for, and he designed it as he built it. It came out beautifully! He, no doubt, relied on his background as a trim carpenter which could be seen in his attention to detail.

This year, due to water damage, we had to remodel the bar area in our basement. Although this was a much smaller project, David and his sub-contractors provided their insight and expertise to assure that this project met our needs and was completed on time.

We would highly recommend David Schertzing for your home remodeling needs.
