

We met and hired David Schertzing in the spring of 2010. Our project consisted of an addition, a remodel to a good portion of our home, a new roof line and a front porch. We began to realize shortly after we started the project that we made the right decision to hire Dave. Everyone that we talked to had nothing but good things to say about Dave and the way he conducted his business. He was great with our kids and we started to wonder if our dog liked him better than us.

We felt very comfortable with Dave. He listened to our concerns and offered us some great ideas as our project went along. He worked hard to keep things moving and finished the job on schedule as he said would happen. We felt as though he was always available for us, we never had to wait longer than the next day for him to return our calls.

The sub contractors that Dave hired were trustworthy, kind and very hard working individuals and more than a few of them told us how happy they were to have the work.

We feel very fortunate to have met Dave when we did. If we were to hire a contractor to complete another project, we would not hesitate to hire David Schertzing and would certainly recommend him to our friends.
