To Whom It May Concern:

David Schertzing, owner of David G. Schertzing Builders, Inc., recently completed a screened in rear porch, deck and new front porch on our home. His work is impeccable and his honesty and communication with us was wonderful. I've used the services of many contractors, and Dave is far and above the best I've encountered.

He always arrived when he said he'd be there--and on time. When using subcontractors, he made sure they were accountable, and when he did his own work, it was beyond fantastic. At the end of each day the site was cleaned and neat. His attention to detail, understanding of our needs and desires, as well as his willingness to "go the extra mile" made us completely comfortable during the entire process, which as anyone that has had remodeling knows, is very difficult to achieve.

We are extremely pleased with his work, and feel very comfortable recommending him for your next home project.
